

DE BLAS SERRANO

2019

Tempranillo old vines

Limited production of 2682 bottles and Mg

It carries the name of the winery as a reflection of its personality and values. The wine is made from very old vines in one of the areas with the greatest potential of the appellation, specifically in the south-eastern limit of the Ribera, in the municipalities of Fuentelcésped, Fuentespina and Milagros.

TERROIR

soil	Soil formed in the Miocene, mainly limestone, reddish sandy clays and clayey loams. All the plots are located between 840 and 930 meters above sea level.
vineyard	It comes from 7 majuelos. Valdubón, carremontejo, la cañada ancha (old), nava, los cantosales (old), el quiñon and el tarraso (old). All our vineyards are planted in goblet as is traditional. The date of planting varies between 1937 and 1953 (average of 70 years) and the average yield obtained is 1,800 kg/ha.
harvest 2019	Despite the frosts at the beginning of May, the vines continued to grow without difficulty. Very dry and hot summer, which due to the water reserves of 2018 allowed for good ripening.

WINE MAKING

viticulture	The care of the vineyard is organic in the process of certification. The harvest is done manually in 15 kg boxes. Double selection in the vineyard and on the sorting table. Harvest date: September 21.
winery process	Gravity winemaking. Destemming without crushing in order to maintain the integrity of the berries. Fermentation is carried out in small volume stainless steel tanks. Autochthonous yeasts are used. Aged for 18 months in French oak barrels, 50% new and 50% used French oak barrels, with capacities of 225l, 300l and 500l. Bottles of 75cl and Magnum.

14,00%
alcohol content

10 mg/l
free sulphurous

3,69/4,90
ph

1,35 g/l
residual sugar

TASTING NOTES

sight	Garnet red, dark, clear and bright with a high layer.
scent	Intense and complex nose: aromas of undergrowth, menthol and spices such as licorice.
taste	Ample and balanced in the mouth. Silky tannins, aromas of ripe black fruit and elegant wood. Fresh, polished, elegant and long-lasting wine.

